Tom Kerrick, Film Cowboy, Slain

Los Angeles, April 28 (AP).—Five motion picture folk who participated in what was described by police as one of the wildest parties ever to come under their attention in Hollywood, and which was climaxed by the fatal shooting of Tom Kerrick, film cowboy, were asked to refresh their memories today as the county grand jury was called in special session to fix responsibility.

Kerrick was shot to death in his home yesterday morning during the party at which police say liquor flowed freely.

His wife, Sarah Kerrick, "screen double", who is accused of having fired the fatal shot in a jealous frenzy, became hysterical when questioned. All she remembers was a "scuffle" with her husband and someone else and that the shooting was accidental. She was held on a murder charge.

The other principals, according to police had not sufficiently recovered from the effects of liquor yesterday to make coherent statements. Held as material witnesses are Miss Iris Burns, Joe Hunt, Henry Isabell, and his wife, Anita Davis, all said to be motion picture "extras".

According to the police reconstruction of the killing, Kerrick aroused his wife's jealousy by his attentions to Miss Burns. Mrs. Kerrick borrowed a small calibre pistol from Hunt. Later, during the quarrel with her husband, she drew the weapon and fired twice. One of the shots lodged in Kerrick's chest. He was dead when police arrived.

Found Strangled In Her Home

Philadelphia, April 28 (AP).—Police today were unable to definitely assign a motive for the murder of Mrs. Mary McConnell, who was found strangled under a bed in her home in West Philadelphia last night.

Mrs. McConnell, who was 53, was found with a cloth such as used for dusting furniture tightly knotted around her neck. A black stocking had been draped over the neck as though to hide the knot.

Denial was made by police that there was any sign of a struggle between the woman and her assailant.

The police were baffled in assigning a motive by the fact that while three rings were missing other valuables about the house were not disturbed.

Mrs. McConnell's husband is a traveling salesman and was away from home when she was killed. The body was found by her daughter, Mrs. Alice Donavan, a school teacher.

Reprieve Again Saves Madeiros

Boston, April 28 (AP).—Four times within shadow of the electric chair only to enjoy an eleventh hour respite, Celestino Madeiros, convicted slayer who has confessed to complicity in the killing for which Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti are under sentence of death, looks forward to at least two months more of life.

Madeiros's execution had been set for today. It was stayed last night by Governer Alvan T. Fuller and his council. The postponement until the week of July 10 coincides with the date for the electrocution of Sacco and Vanzetti.

In announcing the Madeiros reprieve Governor Fuller said a prospective consideration of the cases of the two radicals who were convicted six years ago of the murder of a South Boston paymaster and his guard, would necessarily include the scope of the Madeiros confession.

Y. W. C. A. Fund Reaches $3,300

Weather Does Not Dampen Ardor of Workers In Drive for $8,500—Hard Work Necessary, Say Speakers, Who Show Appreciation of "Y. W."

Everybody knew from the way everybody else looked Wednesday evening, that there was going to be a good report at the Y. W. C. A. get-together supper, and there surely was, though many of the workers were working instead of eating "Mickey" McLaughlin, the song leader, started the meeting off after the invocation by the Rev. Dr. Ellis, with the following appropriate song:

Hail, hail, the gang's all here,
Never mind the weather,
So we're altogether.
Hail, hail, and give a cheer
For the Y. double U. C. A.

Hail, hail, the team's all here,
Going to get the money,
Going to get the money,
Hail, hail, the team's all here,
Going to get the money now.

After the supper, the Rev. Dr. Seeley was the first "booster," and his theme was "Securing happiness, which we all want." It was Dr. Seeley's thought that one of the greatest factors for the making of happiness in our community, in industry, in the home, in the lives of our young people, was the Y. W. C. A., for it developed physical health, mental health, spiritual health, all necessary for real happiness. Such being the case, it was an inestimable asset in the community. Dr. Seeley was glad, not only that men who had spoken before, but The Freeman editorially had recognized the efficiency with which the Y. W. C. A. was being managed, keeping within its budget, which was a remarkably small one. Whatever the report might be, Dr. Seeley hoped it would be doubled Thursday, and assured the workers of success.

Ovation for Captain Fowler.

As sure as Captain Everett Fowler thinks the Y. W. girls are a splendid lot of young women, they think Captain Fowler is their sure friend. When Mrs. Rice, who is a past mistress of the art of presiding at Y. W. campaigns, called on Captain Fowler to speak to the workers, he was given an ovation. He owned up to the fact that if he had not had a chance to come down and help the girls get their budget, he would have been an awful sick man. While he disseminated enough enthusiasm to warm up everybody, he offered also a word of warning to the effect that desirable though the community considers the Y. W. C. A., the workers would have to work, and work hard to get their $8,500 in the face of all the other drives. However, he knew they would work, and that working, they would succeed. Incidentally he said he would help if they really needed him, which brought out another cheer.

Mathews Shows Appreciation.

D. N. Mathews was next called upon by Mrs. Rice. Mr. Mathews said he was very happy that he could be there. Though it was a great deal of work to carry on such a campaign, he agreed with the young lady who asked for his contribution that, after all, the things we work for we appreciate most. She had asked for his help for 1928 and he told her he was only too glad to show his appreciation of the Y. W. C. A. by giving $100 in 1928-29-30-31-32, and that was as far as he went. And it was as far as he got in his speech because of th applause by the workers.

Report of Teams.

The reports, enthusiastically received, showed that Team 4 still held the silver cup, and Miss Reeves of Team 3 won the bouquet for securing the largest number of subscriptions—12. The report follows:

After the reading of the reports, the girls had to know what about that two cents turned in by Team 1. One cent was for good luck, the other was handed out to try the mettle of the solicitor, and when credulous accepted, was followed by a five-dollar bill.

Supper will be served tonight again at 6 o'clock.

KEROSENE LAMP TIPS; WOMAN DIES OF BURNS

Malone, N. Y., April 28 (AP).—Mrs. Jeanne Turner, 45, died this morning from burns she received when a lighted kerosene lamp tipped over on her in her home near here shortly after 5 o'clock this morning.

Her son, John, wrapped quilts about her flaming night clothes and smothered the fire and rolled scatter rugs about the hands in making the rescue.

How the accident happened will never be known as the fire victim was unable to talk coherently after being rescued.

Rev. Dr. F. B. Seeley: "It is my deep conviction that the Young Women's Christian Association of Kingston in its sphere of service is doing a very wonderful work in the building of the Kingdom of love and truth and service and kindness in our city, and merits the unqualified endorsement and hearty support of every citizen, who is really zealous for the fair fame of our beloved city."

Tidewater Oil Buys Dock Front On Rondout Creek

Takes Title to Former Hudson River Blue Stone Company Property on Strand—Will Erect Distributing Station on Property.

The Tidewater Oil Company, according to a deed filed with the Ulster county clerk's office, has taken title to the old Hudson River Blue Stone Company dock property on the Strand, in the Ponckhockie section of the city, purchasing the property from the estate of S. D. Coykendall. The consideration paid for the property is not stated in the deed.

The Tidewater Oil Company distributes Tydol gasoline and Veedol lubricants. Until recently its products were distributed in Kingston by the Kingston Oil Company, whose contract expired several weeks ago and which is now handling another oil company's products, leaving the Tidewater Company without an agency in Kingston to handle the products, although a number of retail dealers in Kingston and vicinity have continued handling Tydol gas and Veedol lubricants which were supplied them from the Catskill distribution plant of the Tidewater Company.

It is evident that the Tidewater Oil Company has decided to have its own distributing plant in Kingston, which led it to purchase the dock property on the Rondout creek where it is presumed that it will erect a large distributing plant.

Kelly Appointed Fleet Director

Former Kingstonian Becomes Vice President and Director of Operations of Merchants Fleet Corporation at $10,000 a Year Salary.

Edward A. Kelly, formerly of this city, has been appointed one of the vice presidents and director of operations of the Merchants Fleet Corporation, and his appointment to such position and the appointment of J. Caldwell Jenkins as a vice president will afford "a good organization" according to General A. C. Dalton, president of the Fleet Corporation, in a despatch from Washington to the New York Herald Tribune of today. General Dalton believes that the plan of having two assistants with the title of vice president will provide a workable plan.

General Dalton disclosed in Washington on Wednesday that Mr. Jenkins already had been elected trustee of the Fleet Corporation and that Mr. Kelly, who joined the Fleet Corporation ten days ago as director of operations, probably will appoint one of his assistants as director. In the meantime, William T. Hayes is serving as acting director of operations in the absence of James A. Wilson, who, General Dalton said, is on leave.

It was learned officially that General Dalton's original idea was to abandon the office of vice president with the retirement of J. Harry Philbin. The Shipping Board accordingly was advised and gave approval of this scheme. "Last Saturday, however, General Dalton presented the proposal of naming two vice presidents, and this recommendation was approved formally by the board at Tuesday's meeting.

Jenkins and Kelly will receive annual salaries of $10,000 each, General Dalton said. He added that Philbin's retirement left a $15,000 a year position vacant. Inasmuch as Mr. Jenkins has been carried for some time on the Fleet Corporation payroll, although attached to the office of Chairman O'Connor of the Shipping Board, General Dalton said that a net saving of $5,000 a year will result.

Mr. Kelly's former home is at No. 127 Greenkill avenue, this city, where he visits his sisters over the week end at frequent intervals.

Up to the time of his appointment to the Merchant Fleet Corporation, Mr. Kelly was one of the officials of the Clyde Line.

The complaint alleged that McGraw promised he would repay the money if the investors wanted it back, and that when a demand for the return of the money was made McGraw refused to keep his promise.

18 Chinese at Peking Executed

Peking, April 28 (AP).—Li Ta-Chao, well-known Communist, and seventeen other Chinese arrested recently during the Chinese police raid on premises within the Soviet embassy compound here, were executed this afternoon. They were strangled at police headquarters.

It was expected that the prisoners would be tried in a special court being formed to hear the evidence against those arrested in the raid which the northern authorities, whose headquarters are at Peking, have claimed resulted in the discovery of documents showing that Soviet Russia was actively supporting the Cantonese against the northern authorities.

Apparently, however, the police decided that the evidence discovered against the prisoners completely proved their guilt and the court, having somewhat informally investigated the cases, ordered the summary execution of eighteen of the prisoners.

State Rests Its Case in Snyder Murder Trial

Haddon Gray Testifies That Henry Judd Gray Confessed to Him the Murder of Snyder—Admits He Lied to District Attorney and Detectives.

Queens County Court House, New York, April 28 (AP).—The state rested its case in the Snyder murder trial at 12.25 p. m. today.

Court was adjourned until four o'clock when the defense will begin presentation of their case.

The adjournment was taken to allow defense lawyers to prepare motions.

Closing of the case against Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray came after testimony of a group of Syracusans.

Says Gray Confessed.

Haddon Gray of Syracuse testified today that Henry Judd Gray confessed to him the murder of Albert Snyder. The two Grays have been friends since boyhood but are not related.

The confession testified to was said to have been made in jail after Henry Judd Gray was charged with the murder along with Mrs. Ruth Snyder, widow of the slain man.

Haddon Gray said he agreed to establish an alibi in Syracuse for his friend, thinking that he was helping in a mild flirtation.

"Just what did you do?" asked the district attorney.

"I went to the defendant Gray's room, mailed some letters, he had left there in the hotel chute, phoned the desk not to disturb me, and hung the 'don't disturb' sign on the knob of the room door. Later I rumpled the bed and made it look as though it had been slept in.

"You left a note?"

"Yes."

The district attorney then read from a slip of paper, "Bud perfect, call when ready. Had."

"Is that the note you left in Gray's room March 20?"

"Yes."

"When did you hear from him?"

"He telephoned me late that afternoon."

"What did he say?"

"He invited me to supper."

"Did you go?"

"Yes, with Charles Platt in his car. That was about six o'clock we went to Gray's room."

"What was the conversation?"

"He said that when he got to Albany he found a telegram from 'Mumsie' telling him to go to her home in New York. He said he went there and when her husband returned unexpectedly, he got in a closet. He told us that when he came out of the closet he found that the husband had been killed."

"Did he show you anything?"

Saw Bloodstained Clothing.

"He showed me some bloodstained clothing and again showed me the picture of his 'Mumsie', the picture of that woman there." (Mrs. Snyder.)

"Did he have any explanation for the way the husband got killed?"

"Yes, he told us about a dark man, apparently a burglar, ransacking the house."

"What was done with the articles he showed you?"

"He said, 'I must get rid of these, will you help me?' I suggested we take the stuff to Platt's office, which we did in a black suitcase that we put on a shelf."

"What then?"

"I took the defendant, Gray, home with me."

"When did he leave?"

"About 11.30."

"You came to New York later?"

"Yes, the following Tuesday, when I came here to the district attorney's office."

"Did you see Gray in jail here?"

"Yes."

"Conversation?"

"I said, 'Bud, did you do it?' and he said, 'Had, I did.' I said, 'Why did you?' he said, 'I don't know.'"

As Haddon Gray gave this evidence Judd Gray still sat motionless with his eyes on the floor.

Mrs. Snyder listened to the testimony eagerly and a fleeting smile crossed her face as Haddon Gray spoke of seeing her picture.

Gives More Details.

Under cross-examination Haddon Gray gave more details of Judd Gray's story. He said that while in the closet "the defendant saw the burglar club Mumsie." When the burglars ran away he said he left the closet and found the husband lying on the bed. In getting over him to see if his heart was beating Judd Gray was quoted as saying he got his clothes bloodstained.

Jean Wallace, counsel for Mrs. Snyder, then took up the questioning.

"You thought a burglary had been committed and a man killed but you did nothing to help the authorities?"

"I did not."

"And you do everything in your power to cover up your friend's trail although you knew that this might obstruct justice?"

"I did."

"Why?"

"I thought I was protecting him from being a victim of circumstances."

"When did you first learn that Judd Gray was charged with murder?"

"Not definitely till Police Chief Martin Cadin told me Monday afternoon."

"When did you see Gray last after

"MURDERED" GIRL RETURNS TO FREE MAN IN FOR LIFE

Missing, Her "Bones" Were Identified by Woman He Had Scorned.

Williamsburg, Ky. — A woman scorned, a girl dissatisfied with home, and a tight-mouthed mountaineer formed the "eternal triangle" in a case which resulted in the mountaineer being sentenced to life imprisonment at Frankfort, Ky., for a "murder" that was never committed, according to evidence in the case which developed suddenly the other day at Williamsburg, Ky.

Two of the three principals have disclosed the circumstances under which Mary Vickery, sixteen years old, disappeared. Some bones were found later in an abandoned mine shaft, and a woman's revenge sent Condy Dabney, thirty-three years old, to prison under life sentence. The third principal, Marie Jackson, twenty-seven years old, is in jail as a sequel.

"Murdered" Girl Speaks.

Mary Vickery revealed the facts in the supposed murder when she appeared at her former home, at Williamsburg, after being missing and believed dead since August, 1925. She broke a silence that has kept Dabney in prison for more than a year.

Marie Jackson, Twenty-Seven Years Old, Is in Jail as a Sequel.

"I disappeared from home because I was not happy with the home life with my father and stepmother," she said. "I had Condy Dabney take me in an automobile to a country railroad station. He left me there and drove away. I took the train to Cincinnati, Ohio, where I worked in a woolen mill.

Accusing Woman Is Held

"I heard about Dabney being charged with killing me, but I didn't want to be taken back home. So I kept still and did not reveal that I was still alive. I stood it as long as I could and then decided to make it known that I was alive so Dabney could be set free."

From his prison cell, just before he was pardoned by the governor, Dabney told his story. He attributed his trouble to a chance acquaintance with Marie Jackson, with whom he had several "dates." He said that at his trial Marie Jackson swore against him because he would not leave his wife and go with her. She is charged with testifying that she was with Dabney when he killed the Vickery girl. Because of this false testimony she is now being held.

Two Dogs Save Child From Culm-Pile Death

Scranton, Pa.—Missing from home overnight, Billy Joyce, four years old, son of a real estate broker, was rescued alive when two faithful dogs that had been by his side 15 hours led Charles Haas, a laborer, to a culm pile in Dunmore in which the missing youngster was buried up to his neck. The soft culm was gradually pulling him down.

While the police of Scranton and Dunmore were conducting a search, the boy's two dogs, barking excitedly, came up to Haas. The dogs pulled on the laborer's coat. It is said, and he followed them to the dump.

It was [illegible] authorities said, that the dogs [illegible] to drag the child out of the culm that was engulfing him during the night.

Sees Children Burn

Modesto, Calif.—Three small children were burned to death before their mother's eyes in a fire that razed the Juan Sandoval home at Empire. The fire was caused by an exploding oil stove. Another child was probably fatally burned.

Were Lawnmowers

Berkeley, Calif.—John Haggerty of this city goes on record as being the first man to shoot himself with a lawnmower. Haggerty was cutting grass when the mower struck a cartridge hidden in the grass. The shell exploded with a loud report, severely wounding Haggerty.

He Knew the Signs

When a small boy, about eight years old, who recently had become interested in prohibition, heard his big sister's boy friend talking to her in a low tone of voice, he immediately called out, "Sis, mother, Bob is supposing to shine."

Back Again

Izzy Einstein (top) and Moe Smith, famed dry raiders, have applied for reinstatement and may be assigned to the Buffalo dry office. They have a new set of disguises, it is reported, one of which makes Einstein look like a Swede.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 28, 1927.

Herbert Hoover has another big opportunity and it is to be hoped that he will be as successful in bringing relief to the Mississippi flood sufferers as he was in his work of relief for the war sufferers in Europe.

Florida proposes to adopt the mockingbird as that state's own, but, inasmuch as the famed songster sings all over the South, other Southern commonwealths are likely to dispute Florida's claim. A number of states have chosen different flowers, but there are hardly enough first-class singing birds to go around if forty-eight states should follow Florida's example.

The Secretary of Agriculture is said to predict a rise in the price of our food products owing to the migration of farm workers to the industrial centers, the farm population in this country having decreased 649,000 during last year alone. This is not a pleasing prospect, but it can at least be said that we are already accustomed to the spectacle of everything going up and nothing coming down.

A BAFFLING PROBLEM.

In former times when the news came that a river was "out of its banks" in consequence of continuing heavy rains it meant only that adjoining waste lands and swamps would be flooded until the rush of water had subsided. This ability of the torrent to spread freely at some points prevented troublesome overflow at others, and in the end, no great harm was done. But as population increased and development advanced, the area of low waste land along river courses decreased, such land being largely recovered and planted. This was particularly true of the rich soil along the reaches of the great Mississippi and it led to the levee system. But the force of a torrent is increased when it is confined within bounds and has no such vents, its power to burst its bonds growing with every inch of the rise of the flood.

It has been contended that the levees have caused the bed of the Mississippi to rise from silting and that they thus tend to produce the very conditions they are intended to prevent. If this be so, only by building them higher and higher can the lowland towns and farms be made safe, for the silting would gradually lift the very bottom of the river above the level of the surrounding country. Spillways and reservoirs have been proposed, but appear to have been pronounced impracticable, yet it would seem that in flood time the Mississippi is in need of vents of some sort before its immense volume of water can be discharged into the Gulf. This great river draining half the country presents a baffling problem which urgently calls for the employment of the best engineering talent looking toward some solution which will prevent a recurrence of the present deplorable destruction of life and property.

TO END A NUISANCE.

One of the pestiferous things encountered by the man or woman who by some accident has had his or her name and address inscribed on that especially obnoxious form of "sucker list" composed of presumably "easy marks" who will accept unordered goods, is the frequent receipt by mail of necktie, etc.," never ordered. Usually a peppy sales letter accompanies the unsolicited and unwelcome goods, with a request to return or send check. The annoyance of making a return of unwanted goods is great, but the penalty of failure is greater, consisting of a stream of dunning letters. The National Better Business Bureau has taken this matter up and recently has published the three questions most often asked and its reply to them as follows:

Do they have to accept it? Must they return it? Are they obliged to pay for it? These are some of the questions which they ask.

We say "Yes" to all three, and reiterate—

Persons who receive such merchandise are under no obligation to pay for it unless they use it or even to return it. They can retain it if they care to; they can hand it to the postman marked "refused," or they can, if they so desire, write to the shipper that they do not care to purchase the merchandise and are holding same for his disposal. If the shipper does not send for it promptly, the addressee is relieved of legal liability for its safekeeping.

The majority of complaints received by the National Bureau refer to the practice as a nuisance. One way to end an advertising nuisance is to make it unprofitable.

The fair and by far the better way is to return the package to the post office, marked "refused". This not only avoids further annoyance and responsibility but penalizes the sender by making him pay double postage without having made a sale. General following of this method would soon put an end to a great nuisance.

WHY TALK ABOUT CANCER SO MUCH?

The question is often asked "Why is there so much talk about cancer and all sorts of suggestions to prevent it, when as a matter of fact, it is neither contagious nor hereditary, and there is no cure for it?" Now this is true of course, because unfortunately there seems no way of curing cancer.

What then is the idea behind all this publicity concerning cancer? Simply because this knowledge saves thousands of lives yearly.

Records show that certain countries, Denmark and Switzerland for example, have very high death rates from cancer, and these rates have remained stationary for thirty years.

What happens where special knowledge about cancer is given to the people?

Dr. William F. Wild tells us that certain facts regarding cancer were given to the people of Pennsylvania in 1910, at which time a survey was made, and in 1923 a similar survey was made "under conditions that are comparable."

For instance the people were told that there were five times as many deaths among men from cancer of the mouth, as there were among women. Ill fitting dental plates, jagged teeth, overuse of tobacco due to the fact that men are more careless in these habits than women, were suggested as the "irritations" that started the trouble.

Further, moles, warts, sores of any kind on the skin were shown to be possible forerunners of skin cancers. Then each symptom of cancer of stomach and intestine was outlined, and likewise cancer of the breast.

By hygienic care of the mouth, the number of cancers of the mouth were reduced.

Even warts, moles, or growths on the skin of any kind were examined early by physicians, as were also the deep seated cancers.

This meant that a great many superficial cancers were seen early, and when seen early none resulted fatally, owing to adequate treatment. Similarly many lives were saved by early recognition of deep seated cancers.

In these thirteen years, Pennsylvania physicians have learned the importance of prompt action sufficiently to have reduced the interval between the patient's first appearance and the beginning of treatment, from 13 months to 4½ months in superficial cancer, and from 12 months to 3¾ months in deep seated cancers.

Ramsey Rambles Into Kingston

He is Not Back Home, but Visited Kingston in South Africa, Among Other Places That He Found Interesting.

The following letter from Charles Ramsey, who with Mrs. Ramsey is on another trip around the world, tells of sights in South Africa, including a visit to "Kingston", and was written to the Kingston Rotary Club:

Feb. 28, 1927.

Were I a poet, I would write of Africa. Were I an artist I would snatch the colors of the mountains, the sea, and the countryside and with pallette and brush impart them to canvas so that our friends might enjoy the beauties we have seen. We have seen many of the world's beauty spots. Africa's beauty is as pleasing as any.

Durban has all amusements. As sharks are common, bathing is made safe by the erection of a large steel enclosure. At night powerful searchlights play upon the enclosure.

We spent most of our time at "Kingston" the home of my sister, where we met very lovely people.

At Karridene a war dance was given. The chief rules over a large area. He has five wives but is still a young man and so will have many more. He has his headmen, or indunas, his dancing women, his jester and subjects. His grass tent is adorned with horns of cattle to let his people know that he eats beef. For the dance the women were dressed in beads and the men in a skin. Each man carried a spear and shield. To make the dance interesting the subjects were allowed to drink all the beer they wanted. I hope to have good movies of this dance.

There are two kinds of policemen: Best regards to all Charlie.

The boys who pull them. The dress of these boys is interesting. The white running pants are laced with red ribbons, the chest is covered with a blouse or perhaps a skin, the legs are white washed. But the head dress is a picture. It is composed of horns and feathers, of every description. The feathers signify the swiftness of the bird and the horns, the strength of the ox. Each visitor takes a ride with these fierce looking creatures.

There are two kinds of policemen—the white one who is much like our own, and the native who is garbed in a blue knicker suit. On his head is perched a helmet. His bare legs are rubbed with fat until they shine. He carries a knobbed stick. He deals entirely with the native.

Durban has all amusements. As sharks are common, bathing is made safe by the erection of a large steel enclosure. At night powerful searchlights play upon the enclosure.

Capetown is a progressive city and the improvements are many. Yet one cannot help but compare the old and the new. The Dutch influence is apparent in the old homes, the Dutch church and the old fort, while the English influence is seen in the new Parliament buildings, the newer homes, the office buildings and the library.

The suburbs extend in all directions. We were fortunate in seeing many of them. Cecil Rhodes, one of the builders of Africa, left to the people his large estate, Groote Schuur. One may wander for hours among the trees with the wonderful mountain wall above and the sapphire sea below.

After a forty mile trip we came to Elsenberg, where the students of the agricultural college prepared for us a feast of the luscious South African fruits. From Elsenberg we motored to Stellenbosch, where luncheon was served in true Dutch style.

Wine making is a great industry and we were interested in visiting a winery.

We had a great experience when we motored over ninety miles to the glorious cape. This wonderful road has only been opened since the war. The scenery seems to change every few minutes—first, one has ocean views of impressive grandeur; lovely bays where the sand strewn beaches glisten then again the waves dash upon a stern and rock bound coast. The road winds, curves, climbs or meanders around the grim sentinel peaks, upward and onward, and always the sea seems restless below.

Hout Bay, an enchanting place, situated in a grove of oaks, at the foot of a mountain, was an ideal place at which to have luncheon.

After luncheon we motored to the most southerly point of Africa, and known as Cape Point. It is the same barren looking place that it must have been thousands of years ago. Coming home from the cape we passed through Simonstown, where the naval station is located: Kalk Bay: St. James: and Muisenberg. The last named places are the most famous sections of the coast. This drive compared favorably with the Amalfi drive in Italy or the Repulse Bay in China.

At night we drove to the municipal pier where, for a few cents, one may enjoy a vaudeville concert. To us it seemed a very second rate performance but to the people there it seemed great. All the old hansoms of London seem to be in Capetown and so I had my first experience in one of them.

Mossel Bay on the south coast, is a clean, well built town noted for fishing, golf, tennis, etc. The members of the auto club put their cars at our disposal. We enjoyed a visit around the city. The most interesting place was the post office—a tree in which a shipwrecked sailor had placed an account of his troubles. This account was found years afterward. Nearby are two cannon salvaged from the sea and dating back to the time of Vasco da Gama.

At Port Elizabeth we had a new thrill. In order to land it was necessary to go down the ship's ladder, then wait until a wave brought the tender to our boat. Then it was essential to jump quickly to the tender. But to return to the ship was a different story. While we were on shore a southwester had made its appearance, making it too rough to attempt jumping. We were taken on board in a large wicker basket. Six or seven people sieed in the basket and were hoisted on board much in the same manner as freight is taken on. I cannot describe the sensation we had as the basket swung in mid air.

While in Port Elizabeth we visited a snake farm such as we saw in South America.

At the feather market a man gave a short talk, the gist of which was, "Wear more feathers and help the market".

At Schoonmaker's Kop the mayor greeted us after which a luncheon was served. Several delightful hours were spent at the beach and its environs.

"See Naples and die", said a great poet. The South African says, "See Durban and live," differing from Capetown, which shows the Dutch influence, Durban is essentially British—the buildings, the manners, the customs, and the people give an atmosphere of England. Yet withall, Durban is cosmopolitan, for one may see a Kaffir girl, dressed in beads and blanket, followed by a European woman garbed in the latest Paris fashion. Following may come a Mohammedan, in his brilliant gown and turban, or a Parsee wearing his fez. The Mohammedan women, richly clothed but with her face covered with a veil, may be followed by a Zulu chief with his wives trailing behind him.

The continual to the street is exciting. Here we observe the droshky, called a tram, and the cabs. But our case is started on the ticking and

DAILY LESSONS IN ENGLISH.

By W. L. Gordon.

Words often misused: Don't say "tomorrow is Friday". "Tomorrow" expresses future. Say "will be Friday".

Often mispronounced: divorcee. Pronounce di-vor-se, i unstressed, o as in "no", e as in "say", accent last syllable.

Often misspelled: rinse; not ze.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: Exalt; to elevate in rank, station, or dignity. "He dreamed of filling a more exalted post."

Founded Religious Sect

Zoroaster was the founder of the religion of the Parsees who flourished, according to Persian traditions, in the Sixth century, B. C. He seems to have been a leader among an agricultural people, whom he wished to establish in virtue, industry and thrift.

INTERESTING MEETING OF PLATTEKILL GRANGE.

Over 50 patrons attended the regular meeting of Plattekill Grange on Saturday evening, April 23. Eight more membership applications were received for the class in May. The progress of construction of the new addition to the hall was noted and during the next three weeks the carpenters expect to complete the main erection. June 16 was announced as the date of dedication, when the state master, S. P. Strivings, will be present for the occasion.

The program was in charge of the home economic committee and consisted of an observance of Better Homes Week. Noah Paltridge of Modena entertained with a very pleasing solo, entitled "It Was a Dream", followed by an encore. He was accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Coy. Ethel Lozier gave a humorous reading, "Calib's Courtship". A recitation, "House Cleaning Time", was given by Gladys Coy. An original essay, entitled "Home", was written and read by Dorothy Powell, closing with a recitation of Edgar A. Guest's poem, "A Heap of Living". Miss Nance, leader of Ulster County Home Bureau, gave an address on "Better Music in the Home", which was beautifully illustrated by selections from a Panotrope, exhibited by Mr. Shaw, of Forsyth & Davis, Kingston, N. Y. The rest of the evening was spent in dancing to music rendered by the Panotrope.

The refreshment committee served sandwiches, cake and coffee.

At the next meeting, to be held on May 14, the first and second degrees will be conferred on a class of 32 candidates. The refreshment committee will be: Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Schoonmaker, William, Ella and Anna Mack, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Radiker, Clifford and Kathryn Hotaling.

Baptismal Superstition

According to an old English superstition, says the Dearborn Independent, when children of different sexes were brought to the font at the same time the boy must precede the girl; otherwise she was in danger of having a beard when she grew up.

After setting ten new world records in The Commander

BASED ON MY EXPERIENCE DRIVING MY PERSONAL STUDEBAKER COMMANDER AND MAKING RECENT RECORD RUN AT CULVER CITY SPEEDWAY WITH A STUDEBAKER COMMANDER STRICTLY STOCK MODEL IT IS MY OPINION THAT IT WILL MAINTAIN ANY GIVEN SPEED UP TO SIXTY FIVE MILES PER HOUR LONGER MORE SMOOTHLY AND AT LESS EXPENSE PER HOUR TRAVELED FOR GASOLINE OIL AND REPAIRS THAN ANY OTHER STOCK AUTOMOBILE NOW BEING BUILT IN THE UNITED STATES.
HARRY HARTZ.

5,000 miles in less than 5,000 minutes

IN a sensational test made at Culver City, California, under the auspices of the American Automobile Association, The Commander, a strictly stock enclosed car, ran 5,000 miles in 4,909 minutes, total elapsed time—better than mile-a-minute speed for 81 consecutive hours and 49 minutes—the fastest speed for the farthest distance ever attained by any stock car!

Repairs Negligible

This is equivalent in stress and strain to 25,000 miles of ordinary driving. Yet in establishing this and nine intervening world records, the only replacements and repairs necessary on The Commander were three grease cups (damaged by hasty greasing), one spark plug, and one tire change.

Champion Driver Praises Champion Car

Harry Hartz had bought a Commander Victoria for his personal car prior to his participation in the establishment of ten new world records. So there is real knowledge back of his statement that The Studebaker Commander will "maintain any given speed up to sixty-five miles per hour, longer, more smoothly and at less expense per hour traveled for gasoline, oil and repairs than any other stock automobile now being built in the United States."

Drive Commander Yourself

To know the real thrill of Studebaker Big Six performance, its flashing speed, giant power, and finger-tip ease of handling, you must drive a Commander yourself. Only with your own hands on the wheel, your own foot on the throttle, can you fully appreciate why the Studebaker Big Six now far out-sells the combined totals of all other cars in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower—why we say and how we prove that The Commander will out-perform and out-live any other car, six or eight, selling for less than $2500.

An exact duplicate of the champion Commander is waiting for you at our show room. See it—drive it—today.

Fly-by-Night Auto Clubs Starting Up

Promoters and High Pressure Salesmen Find It Easy to Start "Gyp" Clubs Because Motorists Know Benefits of Regular Auto Clubs.

The secretary of the Automobile Club of Ulster County today announced that word has been received from headquarters of the New York State Automobile Association to the effect that several "Fly-By-Night" Automobile Club projects are being started in New York state this spring.

One reason for this is the growth of the legitimate Automobile Club movement in New York state during the past year as represented by Automobile Clubs affiliated with the New York State Automobile Association and the American Automobile Association. The A.A.A. Clubs of New York state have made wonderful strides in the past year and as a result of publicity attending their progress, the fake operators find it easier and easier to sell any kind of Automobile Club membership. In other words, the A.A.A. Clubs are educating the public to the value of belonging to a legitimate Motor Club and the "Wallingford" artists are taking advantage of this fact.

In some cases, the "gyp" operators, as they are called, lead their victim to believe that he is joining an A.A.A. Club. They generally use some name which gives them a combination of the A.A.A. with one or two other letters of the alphabet and in this way create the impression that they are a national organization.

Another thing that has stirred up the activity of the Automobile Club "gyps" this year is the establishment by the State Association Clubs of the plan of State-wide Emergency Road Service linking up more than 600 high class garages as official service stations throughout New York state. This state-wide service coupled with the National Emergency Road Service developed by the American Automobile Association gives each local club member protection all over New York state and throughout the United States in case of a break-down on the road.

The "gyp" club operators recognize that this is a big selling point and do not hesitate to promise their victims that they will give them a similar state-wide and national service.

The usual type of "gyp" Automobile Club consists of two or three promoters and a force of high pressure salesmen.

Memberships are sold for one year or two years at a time and the rate is generally $25 and $45, half of which goes to the salesman and half to the promoters. These fast workers find it profitable to exploit a certain territory for about two months after which they usually disappear and that is the end of the movement.

Motorists who are approached by salesmen for doubtful propositions such as these, should immediately acquaint Secretary Buskind of the Ulster County Automobile Club of the fact and request that an investigation be made.

Uncle John's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

NEWBURGH QUARTERS

"And now for our trip today," shouted Uncle John early the next morning.

"We are going up the Hudson river," he added.

"Oh, what fun," exclaimed Douglas.

"Are we going to any special place?" asked Dorothy.

"Yes," said Uncle John, "we are going to see Washington's headquarters at Newburgh."

So, on a boat Uncle John took Douglas and Dorothy, and up the Hudson they went. They looked at the beautiful Palisades on one side, and on the other the apartment houses. For they always loved that contrast of beautiful nature and the very apparent fact of human nature and all its homes.

"What quantities of people live in the Wonder City," said Dorothy.

"Of course, laughed Douglas. "Don't we see hundreds every day? There have been crowds wherever we have gone."

"But it seems as if there were so many more, somehow, when we see what lots of homes there have to be for them all," said Dorothy.

At last the boat reached Newburgh.

Some of them looked old and different, but many seemed much the same.

They Wrote Their Names

They just had a different meaning because such a great man owned and used them.

Uncle John showed them letters that George Washington had written, and after they had looked at them a little while, Douglas exclaimed:

"I'm sitting in the chair that he used to sit in!" Of course Dorothy had to try it, too.

And before they left they wrote their names in the big book in which are written the names of visitors who come from all over to visit the headquarters of Washington, which are so beautifully situated.

In front of the house Douglas and Dorothy saw a large cannon which they were told was fired off every year on the Fourth of July, when some one made a patriotic speech, and when fireworks followed in the evening's celebration.

Back once more they went in the boat along the Hudson to the Wonder City. And, as the tall buildings came in view again, and Douglas and Dorothy were thinking of all the marvelous things that existed in the city, Douglas said:

"There would never have been a Wonder City if it hadn't been for George Washington. I'm so glad I've taken that trip."

"And I'm glad," said Dorothy, "that we've written our names in the book of visitors."

They talked of this and they talked too of the wonder of the weather bureau which they had seen the day before, and which by means of instruments and the condition of the atmosphere could tell whether it was going to rain, snow, freeze or broil.

That was how the weather bureau could send out reports to the newspapers on what the weather was going to be.

Really, Douglas and Dorothy agreed, it was very wonderful to see so much that was so amazing, but because people were used to it they did not stop to appreciate.

Other Fellow's Fault

Bobby, aged three, had a cousin the same age who came to visit him. They spent the major part of the time quarreling. Finally Bobby's mother said, sternly, "What is the matter with you and Jimmy, Bobby? You don't agree at all?"

"Oh," said Bobby, "I agree. It's Jimmie that doesn't."

Rochester Man Now Being Congratulated on His Surprising Recovery from Stomach Trouble and Run-Down Condition

If you are nearing the tragic moment when good health slips from you; if indigestion, nervousness, kidney disorders and ailments caused by a run-down condition torture you, benefit from the remarkable experience of Wilson Little who suffered untold agonies for many years only to later regain his health and strength.

Sitting in his comfortable home at 165 Glenwood Avenue, Rochester, N. Y., Mr. Little recently said: "My condition was unbearable. I watched myself slowly fade away. I suffered from stomach trouble and nervousness which caused splitting headaches that almost drove me mad. I had no appetite for food. And when I ate I paid a high price, suffering from indigestion and gas which made me belch and caused burning pains. For days at a time I could not even sit upright.

"I looked undone, weak and nervous. I sought relief, trying this and that without success. Then Tanlac came to the rescue.

Now Mr. Little is delighted with my condition and says: "I am feeling stronger and healthier. My stomach trouble has never returned. I eat everything without a thought of pain. This great tonic built up my strength and gave me happiness. Everyone should take it, regularly."

Mr. Little is only one of many fortunate men and women now enjoying the benefits of good health and vital strength, thanks to Tanlac, the safe, effective remedy made from roots, barks and herbs.

Learn from their experience and good health and strength can be yours, too. The first bottle of Tanlac shows amazing results. Ask your druggist for Tanlac—today! More than 40 million bottles sold.

Big Rally of Holy Name Men

100,000 Men Are Expected to Attend Holy Name Exercises at Yankee Stadium—Delegation of 200 Will Attend From Saugerties.

Plans for the grand rally of the Holy Name Union of the Holy Name Societies of the Archdiocese at the Yankee Stadium, New York, at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, May 22, are rapidly nearing completion. Reports from the cities and towns in the counties outside New York included in the archdiocese as well as from New York itself, show that at least 100,000 men will attend the exercises over which Cardinal Hayes will preside. As a matter of fact the executive committee already has received several inquiries as to whether overflow meetings are being arranged. Such meetings will not be necessary, however, as the amplifiers which are being installed will not only carry the addresses of the Cardinal and other speakers to the farthest corners of the immense ball park, but will repeat them and every word of the short Benediction service to a wide radius outside by attachments to the rear seats of the upper stands.

With the exception of a few of the boxes which are being held for distinguished guests, there will be no reserved seats, except for the out of town delegations. In order that all coming from a distance may be assured of good seats and that they may be seated together if they so desire, certain sections of the grand stands are being set aside exclusively for visitors from up-state.

Two Hundred From Saugerties.

That the attendance from the city will be matched proportionately by the parishes outside New York is indicated by the Rev. John J. O'Donnell, who has just returned from a visit to points in all parts of the archdiocese and consultation with pastors and presidents of Holy Name Society Branches. For example, he reports that from Saugerties at the far end of the archdiocese in Ulster county, Father Martin O'Gara will head a delegation of 200, which will make the journey to New York in specially chartered busses and automobiles. The small town of Washingtonville in Orange county will send 60 by automobile under the leadership of the Rev. John B. Tetreau. Larger towns, such as Newburgh and Kingston, will send several hundreds to the great demonstration. As indication of what may be expected from other parts of the archdiocese, Poughkeepsie alone is making preparations for a party of over 1,000 and the Peekskill society has arranged for extra coaches on all trains due to arrive in New York in the early afternoon of the celebration.

A non-Catholic has undertaken to decorate the immense ball park free of cost. The field boxes will be draped with American flags; the Papal pennants will be hung from the columns; the upper tier will show more American flags and the stands proper will display alternate Papal and American flags.

There will be no formal parade to the stadium, but the local branches will probably make their way to the scene of the demonstration as units. The police, firemen and letter carriers will each send delegations of 2,500 Holy Name members in uniform, accompanied by bands.

The Western Electric Company, which will install the amplifiers has arranged to send fifteen experts to the grounds to see that every detail of this feature of the demonstration is made perfect.

The altar, at which Cardinal Hayes will officiate at Benediction will be erected just back of second base—almost in the center of the field. It will be open on all sides so that the ceremony may be followed by all present, wherever seated.

The speeches and the Benediction service will be broadcast by radio for the benefit of those who are unable to attend.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, April 28.—There will be a measuring party and a food sale in the Sunday school room of the Methodist Church on Friday evening, April 29. Admission will be charged according to height. The unit per foot will be small. There will be games and refreshments, conducted and served by the Home Guards and the intermediate class of the Sunday school. An evening of fun for young and old is promised.

The Rev. Mr. Pierman, Ph.D., who has been occupying the pulpit of the Methodist Church the past two Sundays, will preach again on Sunday next.

Jay H. Smith, the regular pastor, will occupy the pulpit on May 8.

The Ladies' Aid Society will be entertained by Mrs. Herman Krom on Wednesday afternoon of this week.

The Builders' Class will meet at the home of Mrs. Irving Schoonmaker on Saturday afternoon, April 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Slocum of Elmira, N. Y., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Palen last week.

Mrs. Temperance Houghtaling and Miss Katharine Houghtaling spent a day in this place on Friday last.

ARMED MEN TO PROTECT BANKS

Elaborate Alarm System Is Being Planned by Bankers of Michigan.

Detroit, Mich.—Goaded into action by the frequency of bank robberies, the Michigan Bankers association has determined to inaugurate a plan of arming vigilantes all over the state with rifles and pistols and training them in the use of these weapons. This is the statement of H M Brown, secretary of the Michigan Bankers' association while discussing the move.

The plan contemplates an armed organization in every county, built around the sheriff. The vigilantes appointed will be sworn in as regular deputy sheriffs but the arms and equipment will be furnished by the various county bankers' federations

A reward of $1,000 will be offered in every county for the apprehension of bandits, dead or alive. Some of the counties plan to offer a reward of $2,500 for a dead bandit and $1,000 if he is taken alive

Heading up the vigilante movement for the bankers are Paul J Ulrich, president of the Ulrich Savings bank, Mount Clemens F W Merrick, vice president of the Pigeon State bank, Lansing, and B P Sherwood, president of the Grand Haven State bank, Grand Haven.

Deputies in Every County.

Under the plan as outlined there will be deputized from three to fifty vigilantes in every county that has a bank.

These men will be armed with .45-caliber pistols and high-powered Krag rifles with a killing power at a mile and a half Fast automobiles will be stationed within easy access to each bank and the vigilantes will be trained to mobilize quickly, as soon as the alarm is sounded

The plan also contemplates a system of silent alarms stationed in cars as parts of the bank The wires leading from the silent alarms will be encased in steel sheathes to prevent cutting

These alarms will lead to various places in the city or town where the vigilantes are stationed In the event of bank attack it is only necessary to step on a button The alarm does not sound inside of the bank and the robber will not be aware that while he is in action vigilantes are mobilizing on the outside to meet him with a hail of lead as he emerges

Secret telephones will also be installed while a system of widespread alarm will be worked out with the local telephone companies.

In the larger cities a paralyzing gas will be used which can be set off from any point in the bank completely paralyzing the bandits at the teller's windows

Many of the counties are planning to install sirens emitting a sound different from any factory whistle or fire alarm which will be heard for a distance of at least five miles in all directions Immediately after the robbery these sirens will begin to sound, warning the country that a bank has been robbed and that the bandits are escaping over the highways This is done in conjunction with that part of the plan that enlists the help of the farmers all over the county.

The vigilante plan that is being launched by the Michigan Bankers' association is the same in most respects as the one under which the Indiana bankers have been working for the last year and a half. During that time the Indiana Bankers' association has seen its bank attacks reduced 84 per cent and its bank losses 79 per cent, according to H. M. Brown.

Plan of Army Officer.

Joseph Rylands, former army officer, who inaugurated the plan in Indiana has been secured by the Michigan Bankers' association to initiate the plan in Michigan.

When the plan is functioning correctly according to Chairman Ulrich of the state protective committee all the law enforcing officers in the state will be coordinating with a watchful citizenry that has been aroused to action by the increasing boldness of the criminals It is expected Mr Ulrich said, that at least 1000 armed vigilantes will be sworn in during the next four months

One feature of the plan which of necessity cannot be divulged, Mr Sherwood said is a series of "death traps" that will be arranged in each banking community. Another feature is a system of road blockade that will insure the appearance of 150 to 300 men on all highways within 15 minutes after a bank is attacked.

"We are deadly in earnest about this vigilante plan," Mr Sherwood stated. "It appears that nothing except the use of force will put an end to the depredations of these potential murderers. Very well, if that is necessary to curb them, we will be glad to see that they get it."

JUNGLE GROWS OVER ONCE MIGHTY CITY

Americans Find Place Older Than Ancient Rome.

A city in Indo China, known through Chinese literature to have been old and powerful when Rome was new, has just been discovered by the Americans—Harry Herrey and Carlton Hildreth.

Writing of the lost city, in McCall's Magazine, Mr. Hildreth tells of the people whose decaying capital he helped in discovering:

"The Khmers were a people more mysterious than the Incas, and their greatness is comparable with the civilizations of China and Babylon. Indeed, the ancient Khmer capital, Angkor-Thom, whose ruins stand today in the Cambodian jungles, was a city more thrilling than Rome at its height.

"The Khmer empire reached its height in the Twelfth century, then declined, and after a series of wars with the Thai race (now the Siamese) and the people of Chiampa (modern Annam) the Khmers slipped out of history, leaving the ruins of their mighty cities and a few meager inscriptions as the only records of their spectacular rise and fall. What became of the Khmers? Did their defeated armies retreat into the hinterlands and there build other cities? Or did they die out, leaving only a thin stream of their glorious blood to filter down through the centuries into the present-day natives of Cambodia?"

Mr. Herrey adds to what is known of the city as a result of his explorations. He traces something of the rise of the city and says:

"It was Suryavarman II, seven centuries later, who ordered the building of Angkor-Wat. Out of the toil and death of thousands of slaves that monument edifice rose whose spires, that upon five, until its towers crowned with golden lotus, it dominated the surrounding marshy jungle and the torn pyramids of Angkor Thom a monument to the cruelty and magnificence of the Khmers.

"Near the end of the Twelfth century the empire reached its height. A comparatively short time after that—between the years of 1295 and 1297—Angkor was visited by a Chinese ambassador, Tcheou-ta-Khouan, whose memoirs are the only records of the manners and customs of this people.

"The splendor of Angkor at the time of Tcheou-ta-Khouan's visit was prodigal. Golden rot was eating into the heart of the Khmer empire In one mighty gesture, spending their wealth and their strength, these people had built Angkor—and their own tomb. In the Thirteenth and Fourteenth centuries they were attacked again by the Chams, also by the great Thai race, the Siamese. Then the slaves rose up against them The end of the Fourteenth century saw the last of Angkor's lavish beauty and brutality.

"In final ironic humiliation, the city, deserted, sacked, and delivered over to the jungle, whose monstrous greenness inundated it, ripped wide its exquisite walls, tore its gods from their shrines, and held it captive until, more than 500 years later, a wandering Frenchman came upon it and announced his discovery with his account of its greatness that in 1907 France acquired it from Siam by one of those political felonies which is called diplomacy. . . . Time melts a history brazen as a soldier's pompe."

Oil Production a Gamble

The average life of an oil well is quite variable. The rate of development is very important. Rapid drilling and rapid production will lessen the life, while gradual drilling and gradual production will lengthen the life. New methods of recovery and other things enter in. Oil wells in the United States now in operation seem to produce between 10 and 25 years, according to location.

FIRST YOUTH TO WIN A. A. A. MEDAL

Raymond Clark, ten, of Washington, is the first schoolboy traffic policeman to win a medal from the American Automobile association for exceptional service. He saved the life of Betty Griffith, seven (left), by pushing her out of the way of a speeding motor car which had failed to obey signals.

ROAD COURTESY USUALLY SHOWN

Courtesy of the road is fairly well observed by drivers of motor vehicles in general.

Occasionally one motorist may meet with discourtesy and an exhibition of boorish manners from another driver, and of course the "road hog" is ever with us. This, however, appears to be the exception.

Courtesy and a prevailing good-natured civility appear to be the general attitude of motorists toward each other.

But are we as motorists observing the same courtesy and thoughtful consideration toward the man and woman who walks that we observe toward each other?

Help Pedestrians.

Are we trying to make the way of the pedestrian less difficult in crossing less busy thoroughfares and congested city streets?

Of course it is taken for granted that every right-minded driver of a motor vehicle is trying to observe the laws governing traffic regulation and to avoid accidents in every way possible. This he is bound to do, not only out of regard for the laws of the land, and the protection of his fellow citizens, but as a self-protective measure as well.

But are we as careful in the lesser things as we might be?

Many motorists are in the habit of rounding corners at a fast rate of speed. In doing this they may be obeying the law if the traffic signals are set for them to go forward. But surely good breeding and courtesy require that the drive a little more slowly in order to allow the pedestrians who are crossing the street at the signal of the traffic officer an opportunity to g across without any mishap.

Unnecessary Honking.

Again, in the matter of blowing horns unnecessarily, the motorist often shows a lack of consideration toward those who are walking. How often we notice a driver noiselessly approach a person on foot and then suddenly emit a hoarse "honk," causing that person to jump nervously. This, in itself, is a small matter, but in the case of an old person it is very confusing and might even lead to disastrous results in the case of a man or woman suffering from a heart or nervous disorder.

When stopping at boulevards a motorist may greatly assist a pedestrian by making his intentions plain and signaling the person crossing the streets whether to stop or proceed.

Solve Vexed Problem of Glaring Car Headlights

A novel solution of the vexed problem of nonglaring headlamp illumination was described on June 2 at the summer meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers by K. P. Chambers, scientific research engineer, in an address on complimentary color headlighting.

Briefly, the proposed system consists in the use of oval headlamps each of which has two paraboloid reflectors, the upper one fitted with an orange-colored glass and the lower one with blue glass, and of a color filter box just inside the windshield of the automobile in which are a sheet of plain transparent glass that filters out the orange rays and another that filters out the blue rays. These filters are connected electrically with the bulbs in the lamps so that when the orange filter is drawn down into the line of vision of the driver the blue light is turned off and the orange light turned on automatically, and when the blue filter is drawn down the orange light is shut off and the blue light turned on.

Each viewing filter is transparent to light of the same color and so the driver can see practically the same as if he were driving with white light.

Radiator Cover Useful in Keeping Motor Warm

A radiator cover of the conventional type serves to regulate the amount of air that flows through the radiator while the car is in motion, but it cannot keep the motor warm for very long when the car is standing, owing to loss of heat through the openings in the side of the hood which permit the air to circulate freely. Metal or plywood plates bolted on the inside of the hood as shown in the illustration will stop this waste and also help to keep your feet warm by driving the heated air back through the openings in the floor boards.—Popular Science Monthly.

Persons Who Drive Take Good Care of Themselves

Persons who drive automobiles take better care of themselves while walking than do those who do not drive cars, according to recent research work looking into the causes of traffic accidents.

It is said that few motor-car drivers are caught off their guard when walking. The records show that the majority of accidents to pedestrians involve persons who have had no experience in handling cars.

The reasons for this are that in motoring the driver gets a perfect picture of what he faces as a pedestrian, and when he walks he conducts himself accordingly. He walks in a confident manner, and when he crosses the streets at intersections he makes allowances for the inability of the traffic officers to look out for everyone. He knows the approximate distance in which a car can stop. He is able to observe whether the drivers are keeping their eyes on the road or not. He is trained to take no chances and watch signals, so that from his general experience as a driver he is trained automatically as a pedestrian.

It would appear that the moral from this is that every person should learn to drive a car at the earliest possible moment.

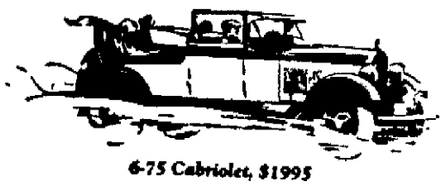
This is THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR IN AMERICA

6-75 Sedan $1695



6-75 Cabriolet, $1995

Topping the "Sixes" in the wide Paige line of "Sixes" and "Eights" is the magnificent 6-75. This Paige is a big car; extremely well made, and beautifully styled. And yet it is not costly. Indeed its price is so moderate, in relation to its size and luxury, that it is attracting many of those who prefer the greater comfort of a large automobile.

Much of the charm of the 6-75 models is due to the consummate skill with which Paige body designers have achieved interior roominess without sacrifice of graceful exterior lines. Notice the graceful sweep that extends from the ball back of the top to the tip of the front fender. Note the great length of the car, and its lowness accentuated by the clever blending of the two tone colors.

To appreciate fully the true magnificence of this motor car, you must sink into its luxuriously upholstered cushions, take its wheel and actually drive. For in addition to its great beauty, and its exquisite appointments—it performs beautifully. When may we take you on a demonstration drive—there's no obligation?

* * *

The 6-75 5-passenger Sedan illustrated above lists at the factory for only $1695. A 7-passenger Sedan, a Limousine, a Coupe, a Cabriolet Roadster, and a smart Phaeton are also available on the 6-75 chassis at similarly low prices. The complete Paige line of twenty models offers a wide variety of selection at prices from $1095 to $2795. All prices f. o. b. factory.

No Corn Borers In Ulster County

Only Seven Counties In New York State Free from Pest Which Government and State Forces are Fighting.

Albany, N. Y., April 28 (AP).—Twenty-five thousand land owners in Erie, Chautauqua and Cattaraugus counties are enlisted in the great spring drive undertaken against the European corn borer by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State Department of Farms and Markets.

With plow and fire brand this army is burying or burning all corn stalks left over from last year's crop, for entomologists believe that this method of control, which destroys the larvae of the insect, is perhaps the most effective ever devised. The three western counties were selected for the test because they were heavily infected by the borer last season.

Property owners who do not comply with the order to dispose of the stalks by May 1 face the prospect of having the work done for them by experts of the federal government at the expense of the taxpayer.

Ulster Free from Pest.

Only seven counties in New York state are not infected by the borer. Suffolk, Westchester, Dutchess, Rockland, Ulster, Sullivan and Delaware are still free from the pest, which in the last few years has spread through the lake counties and down the Mohawk and St. Lawrence valleys.

Experts believe, however, that the borer can be kept in check in New York state so that little damage will result. Conditions here are favorable to its suppression, for the corn fields are comparatively isolated and the crop is cut close each fall. In the west, on the other hand, corn is the chief crop and only the ears are taken, leaving the stalks to harbor the borers from fall to spring.

The work being done in western New York and in parts of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Michigan is in the nature of an experiment. After trying many other means of eradication, government entomologists concluded that the destruction of the borer in its larval state would be the surest means of suppression. Accordingly, burning or burying of the stalks, stubble and corn crop refuse was recommended. If buried, it was found that the larvae make their way to the surface of the ground where they die or are picked up by birds.

Establish Control Areas.

The State Department of Agriculture and Markets cooperated with the movement by establishing control areas in the heavily infested counties of New York. Notices were sent to land owners who raised corn last year that the remains of the crop must be disposed of by May 1. A similar campaign is being waged in the test areas of the other four states.

At this time of the year the larvae of the borer are still dormant in their tunnels within the old stalks. Soon, however, they begin to pupate and from June 15 to July 1 the moths are emerging. By the time the corn is two feet high the moths are ready to deposit their eggs which hatch after two weeks, producing small larvae that feed on the leaves. The borer reaches full size in five weeks and then tunnels within the tassel stalks and ears. Experts consider that little damage is done to the corn until twenty per cent of the stalks are infected. In heavily infested areas every stalk may be borer-ridden.

Real Indian at Girl Scout Rally

The Princess Chinquilla whom the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts is presenting to the Girl Scouts of Ulster county on Saturday afternoon at the armory, is a full blooded Cheyenne Indian, daughter of an Indian chief, and a Carlisle Indian School graduate.

Chinquilla has long been interested and active in Indian welfare work and is also a writer of some note She organized the first club for Indians in the United States, and is strong in her belief that her people, the first Americans, can be given the benefit of modern culture and can be allowed nevertheless to remain true Indians.

The children of the Chicago schools have just had the pleasure of hearing Chinquilla tell them all about the lives and customs of the American Indians. Chinquilla spoke in person at several of the Chicago school assemblies and then was featured by a radio talk both afternoon and evening.

For the benefit of the Girl Scouts at the Girl Scout rally, Chinquilla will give her dramatization of the "American Indian". From the moment Chinquilla steps on the stage her audience is transported from their everyday surroundings to an Indian camp of long ago, and merge their lives for the time with those of the Indians. The spell of the Indian customs and legends as portrayed by Chinquilla stay with the individuals of her audience long after Chinquilla has broken her camp and left for other scenes.

Houses of Cork

Among the great number of new houses required for men to work the new Kent coal field are some that are being built on a novel plan.

The walls are 6 inches thick apart from the inner half-inch coating of plaster The outer three inches are of concrete, while next to the plaster are two inches of compressed cinder, called breeze Between the concrete and the breeze is one inch of compressed cork: The whole is built solidly about a steel frame, the cork taking the place of the usual airspace in the wall

The cork, being a nonconductor of heat, keeps the heat in during winter and keeps it out in summer, and those already in occupation are proving very comfortable on that account. Over a hundred have been built during the past twelve months, and two hundred more are under construction.—London Tit-Bits

He Had Proof

The young son of a certain family having among its musical friends one of the best singers of the city, whose name is often mentioned in connection with musical affairs, came to his mother one day saying:

"Did you know that Mrs. —— sings at the Lyric?"

"No, my dear, she sings in concerts and some times in church, but not at the Lyric," replied mother.

"Well," said he triumphantly, "look here at this program, it says 'Mrs. ——, lyric soprano.'"

And then it was up to mother to explain what a lyric soprano is.

Kayos Feature Bouts at Armory

Konchina Knocks Out Fisher in Third and Van Buren Wins in First Round—Main Bout Is Stopped in Fifth.

Two clean knockouts and a technical knockout featured the bouts held at the armory Wednesday night. Hundreds of fans heard another called a draw and saw Referee Eddie Sheldon stop the final bout between Bobby Anderson and Bobby Wagner in the fifth round because Anderson had hopelessly outclassed Wagner.

The two boxers started off in good shape, each taking a few light ones and ended the round about even. In the third round Anderson rushed Wagner to the ropes and kept raining harmless blows to Wagner's body. Afraid to take a chance on swapping blows with the junior lightweight champion of the national guard, Wagner covered up so effectively that Anderson was unable to do any damage.

The battle still going on in the same way, with no prospect of any real fighting on Wagner's side, the dancing referee stopped the bout in the fifth and gave the decision to the colored champion

Fisher Out in Third.

The crowd was tense when Charlie Fisher and Frankie Konchina came into the ring for the semi-final eight rounds. Charlie was knocked out in 1 minute and 28 seconds of third round. A terrific blow on the point of the jaw, floored him for the count of eight, but he gamely struggled to his feet and Konchina put a left and a right to the head which sent Charlie to the canvas for keeps.

At the tap of the bell Konchina let fly with both hands with all the fury of a tiger pouncing on its prey, but Charlie covered up cleverly until the storm of blows had spent itself without any damage. The second round was about even with each sending an opening and exchanging harmless taps. Charlie was holding his own in the third until the sudden climax.

A Fast Draw.

Tommy Kerakos and Eddie Boyer, colored boxer, fought a fast eight round draw, with both taking plenty of hard punches. In the sixth round Kerakos rushed Boyer who lost his balance and fell half way through the ropes, facing the spectators Kerakos had a chance to send home a possible knockout blow but withheld his hand to give Boyer a chance to get back into the ring To show his appreciation of the good sportsmanship of Kerakos, Boyer shook his hands and the fans applauded their approval

Technical Kayo.

Glad Martin, negro slugger, proved too much for George Molsen. Martin had the edge on the white boy all the way and in the fourth round he slammed a hard one to Molson's solar plexis. It settled the fight as far as Molson was concerned and Referee Sheldon helped him to his corner and gave Martin a technical knockout.

Van Buren Kayos Hesse.

Roy Van Buren furnished a thriller in his battle with Frankie Hesse by knocking him out in two minutes and 52 seconds of the first round Van Buren was too fast for Frankie and had him going from the start A terrific right to the head, followed by another left floored the New Yorker for a clean knockout

Credit must be given Eddie Sheldon for the manner in which he handled the bouts. He by far outshone the boxers with his clever footwork and dodging He just missed a hard uppercut as he sought to separate the men in a clinch

Lieutenant Bernard Roach and Lieutenant Lawson were responsible for the promptness in which the fighters followed each other into the ring without any delay John Daley and Frank Sheridan were the judges. Thomas Coughlin was the announcer.

On Sunday, May 8, the Pan-Ams will take on the Golden Rods at East Kingston It is expected that the regular moundsman "Cannon Ball" Lee, will do the hurling for the Golden Rods, with Cleveland Thomas on the receiving end On Sunday May 15, Manager McNally's nine will stack up against the strong team of Gardiner on the latter's diamond.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

With a spurt by the St. Louis Browns which carried them to second place in the American League, the battle for the lead today waxed bitter.

The fighting Browns surprised the fans who had rated them a second division club, by passing Washington yesterday and challenging the Yanks for league leadership. Their telling victory was won in the tenth over Cleveland 4 to 2, on the capable pitching of Sam Jones, former Yankee, and the timely hitting of Rice

While the Yankees and the Senators were idle because of rain, the Athletics took another step forward by beating the Red Sox, 4 to 1, and went into a tie with Washington for third place. Ty Cobb again starred with two hits, one a double, and Bill Lamar helped with three safeties, one a homer Lefty Grove had a jump and twist on the ball that Bill Carrigan's men could not fathom. He granted six hits, widely scattered.

A pitcher's battle between Blake of the Cubs and Donohue of the Reds broke in favor of the Chicago hurler in the eighth when his teammates eked out a second run for a hard won 2 to 1 victory That score for Donohue has been a jinx all season as he has been on the losing end of a 2-1 count three times.

For the second time in three days, George Connally did a rescue act for the White Sox and pulled a game out of the fire for a hard hit pitcher. This time Jacobs weakened under a Detroit batting attack, but the quick substitution of Connally confined the Tigers to six safeties, half off each hurler.

Free swinging Chicago bats meanwhile sent the court to 7 to 2

Talk of trades was heard in the hotels of several teams as the weather kept them from playing baseball on the field It was murmured that Wilbert Robinson is trying to trade one of his second best pitchers to Sam Breadon of the Cards for Flowers, shortstop, in the course of strenuous efforts to get his Robins out of the cellar.

Tunney Raps The Glad Hand

New York, April 28 (AP).—Gene Tunney, the philosophical champion heavyweight pugilist of the world, is willing to do without the glad hand of hero worship, he told Robert H. Davis whose story to that effect is printed in the New York Sun today.

The champion sees handshaking as a menace to the health of public figures. Handshaking wrecks constitutions. It hastened the deaths of Harding and Roosevelt, and no president should participate in any demonstration that requires him to shake hands with a line of people, the titleholder advised.

"No man can stand it," said Tunney. "The act of extending your arm and taking a strange hand in your own, bestowing a grip and receiving another in the most exhausting thing in the world."

PLAYER-MANAGER HOBBY IS DYING OUT

Guidance From Bench More Effective, Says Hendricks.

The day of the playing manager in the major leagues is just about over, in the opinion of Jack Hendricks, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, who is attending the meeting of the Association of National Baseball Leagues. Hendricks runs his team from the bench.

"Speaker, Cobb, Sisler and Collins all went the same year. The fad soon wore off," Hendricks said. "Of course Bucky Harris is still in, but you must remember he won two pennants in succession."

Hendricks declared that a manager should be on the bench, not on the field, because a manager cannot play and at the same time manage. He doesn't, as a manager, even take the coach's box.

"I have been in this old racket for nearly twenty-five years, and I always have been a bench manager," he said.

"I believe when Harris passes out of the big leagues the player-manager will have gone forever. The percentage is against them. No man can judge a game from the outfield, infield or behind the plate as well as he can from the bench. Managing takes quick thinking, and a player cannot think about the game and about strategy at the same time."

Shea to Become Steward for Elks

John L. O'Shea of Hartford, Conn., who was a resident of Kingston for a number of years, has returned to town to accept the position of steward of the Elks' Club, to take effect on May 2, having been engaged by the house committee.

Mr. O'Shea is a charter member of the local lodge of Elks which was instituted February 15, 1909, and is a past exalted ruler. For a number of years he was employed by the late Howard Myer, cigar manufacturer on John street, as a cigarmaker, being an expert in making cigars by hand. Later he engaged in the conducting of a large cafe at 35 North Front street called "The Sunnyside" with restaurant and lunch counter where he installed moving pictures and illustrated song slides with music. At one time he conducted a cafe at the corner of Crown and North Front streets.

For four years when there was no paid fire department in Kingston and Chief Rafferty was head of the department, Mr. O'Shea was first assistant chief. He left this city ten years ago to make his home in Hartford and states he is glad to be back in the old Colonial town again.

Woodchuck War To Start May 2

The time has come when "Mr. Woodchuck," who lives in Ulster county, must say "good-bye" to his friends, that is if he has any, for during the week of May 2, the Farm Bureau has staged a war campaign against the woodchucks.

All farmers who are enemies of the woodchuck and live in the vicinity of Olive Bridge are invited to come out to the first meeting, which will be held at the farm of Leroy Davis, Olive Bridge, on Monday, May 2, at 6:30 standard time.

Several other demonstrations will be held in the county.

Dogmatic sailormen of the steam service no doubt see in the ill luck of the President Harding an omen from heaven. Burn that greasy oil, will they? You never hear of a bunker of coal leaking out and leaving the vessel helpless. And the point is well taken—just as well, in fact, as the stare on steam by the old-timers who drove the windjammers, says the Baltimore Sun. Blow out a boiler and where are you? But somehow sails went out and steam came in, and it now looks as if the unromantic fate of the great liner is to become an overgrown but efficient motor boat.

Somebody has been trying to extract a moral from a recent agricultural epigram. A farmer hauled a load of corn to market, and his wife took in 15 dozen eggs. Each got exactly the same price for the produce, but while the man spent his proceeds for groceries the woman bought three pairs of silk hose. And this happened in a country where they used to say that the first necessity was a barn, and after that (perhaps) a house.

Show Benefits of Full Assessments

State Tax Commission Officials Point Out Losses Sustained by Towns Where Low Assessments Prevail and Benefits Derived Where Property Is Assessed at Full Value.

Various changes in the law in regard to the duties of assessors, their appointment in villages and the benefits of 100 per cent assessments were matters discussed at the afternoon session of the State Tax Commission which met with the county assessors and supervisors at the court house on Wednesday. The afternoon session was devoted to explaining several changes in the law, by Deputy Commissioner Spratt, and the explanation of full valuation assessments, by Assistant Deputy Commissioner Wallis.

Mr. Spratt stated that the new laws recently passed had not been closely studied by the Tax Commission as yet and he was not going to attempt to tell what the law provided for except in a general way. In the future village assessors will be appointed by village boards, and the former election of assessors in villages will be abolished. The village tax collector is abolished.

Benefits of Full Assessments.

Probably the facts pointed out by Mr. Wallis in regard to full assessments furnished the high spot of the afternoon meeting. Mr. Wallis urged full value assessments as provided by law and then went on to point out the benefits of such a method. Many assessors believe that by higher assessments the town will have to pay higher direct state tax. This, he explained, was not true. By equalization over the entire state the state money was raised in a proportionate share in each town and county and no matter how little or how much money was needed by the state for state operation, it was raised.

The fact that a town or county was assessing its lands for one-quarter or one-half its actual value made no difference in the amount of state tax paid by that individual, town or county. No matter what the assessed valuation of the county might be, in arriving at the amount of tax that county should pay to the state, the state equalization board made its rate and the county paid taxes on that basis. He pointed out how in Sullivan county where the assessed valuation was particularly low the state tax had been levied on a basis fixed by the state, and state tax was paid on that basis and not on the figures which the county assessors prepared.

Lose Through Low Assessments.

The assessed valuation as made by the county assessors did not in any way reduce the amount of tax paid to the state. On the other hand, he explained how by the lower assessments the towns were losing the benefits of state distributed money and he explained how the income tax money was apportioned in the towns and cities on the basis of assessed valuation. By low assessments the share of the towns was much less. To illustrate this, he read figures of several of the towns in Ulster county and told how much money each town received under its present assessments in 1926 and what the town would have received had it been assessed for full valuation.

Several of the assessors asked what their town had received and what it would have received under a full valuation assessment. Hurley received $984 and could have had about $2,000; New Paltz received $613 and could have had $1,720; Rosendale received $973 and could have had $3,650; Woodstock received $999 and could have had $3,700; Gardiner received $679 and could have had $1,700. Other towns in the county might have had considerably more than they received.

Kingston City Benefited.

The city of Kingston which is assessed nearer 100 per cent than the other portions of the county received $31 more money from Albany than was sent in.

Mr. Wallis attempted to show the advantages of full value assessments. Full value assessments, he showed, did not increase the state tax or the local tax. A certain amount of money must be raised and there is a certain amount of property upon which this may be raised and a higher assessment simply means a lower rate with the same amount of taxes to pay minus the extra moneys apportioned from state funds.

Where did the money which Ulster county lost last year go? Mr. Wallis explained that there were 42 counties in the state with a higher rate of assessment than Ulster county and these counties reaped the benefits which Ulster county lost.

Taxes Not to Be Lower.

Lower taxes in the state were not forthcoming, said Mr. Spratt. With the tremendous sum of $12,500,000 being raised this year in the state for educational purposes, of which $12,500,000 is being devoted to public schools, it was evident that our educational system was being well cared for, but next year and for the next three years this great sum was to be increased each year by $5,500,000 so that at the end of that period the education fund for public schools would reach the tremendous proportion of $33,000,000.

No official figures have been compiled as yet, but he stated the belief that the income tax this year had produced the biggest revenue ever and that the returns benefits to the counties would be bigger than last year.

After numerous questions had been asked and answered, Mr. Spratt adjourned the meeting by stating that the Ulster county meeting had been one of the best meetings held in the state this year.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 28 (AP).—Stock prices underwent another sharp downward readjustment today under heavy selling for both accounts . The selling centered largely in the stocks and industrials, which were liquidated on further unfavorable trade news, but support also was lacking for a number of other recent industrial and railroad leaders, declines of one to five points being scattered throughout the list.

Oils sank to new low levels for the year on predictions of trade executives that the era of over production in the oil company was likely to be of long duration, and that disaster threatened some companies. A further decline in steel production, coupled with the threat of a serious suspension of work by the New York building trades, inspired the liquidation of the steel shares.

Growing estimates of flood damage brought about further liquidation of the shares of railroads traversing the Mississippi valley Weakness also developed in some of the eastern carriers, particularly New York Central and Reading Bangor and Aroostook continued its sensational gain

General Motors was liquidated freely and sold down more than two points, but Pierce Arrow preferred, which recently sustained a bad break on the publication of a poor quarterly report received better support Weak spots also cropped out in a number of the amusement, equipment, food and chemical shares

The market steadied after midday when strong buying support appeared for a number of leaders, but the higher prices encountered increased offerings

State Rests in Snyder Case

"Late Monday. I told him then I was sorry he was in trouble and that I would get him a lawyer."

"What was your next connection with the case?"

Admits Falsehoods.

"Tuesday morning three Syracuse detectives told me Judd had confessed and asked for his bag. I told them I didn't know anything about it."

"That was a falsehood?"

"Yes."

"You lied although you knew he was charged with murder?"

"Absolutely."

"You lied to District Attorney Newcombe when you were brought down here?"

"Yes, at first."

"Had your own lawyer told you to tell the truth?"

"He had."

"Why didn't you?"

"I didn't believe Judd was guilty?"

"On the other hand, wasn't your purpose to withhold all you could until you had compared notes with Judge Gray so that you would not be indicted as an accessory to the murder?"

"It was not."

Platt Tells Same Story.

Charles Platt then took the stand. He corroborated Haddon Gray's recital of the Judd Gray closet-burglary story, and told again of taking the black bag to his office. He said next morning he opened the bag and bundled up the contents.

(By the district attorney) "What then?"

"I took the bundle down to Mahoney, the superintendent of the building, and asked him to dispose of it I gave the suitcase with a brief case in it to my stenographer who said she took it to her husband who told her he burned it. Mahoney said he burned the bundle."

(By Dana Wallace for Mrs. Snyder) "Of course when you bundled up the contents of the bag you saw the chloroform bottle?"

"I did not."

"You were taken to Syracuse police headquarters after Gray had been arrested?"

"Yes, I was asked how well I knew Judd Gray and said only slightly."

"You didn't tell them about burning Gray's stuff?"

"No."

"Although you knew then that he was charged with murder?"

"That's right."

"You didn't say anything about burning the clothing until the next week when New York detectives arrived?"

"No."

"Why?"

"I was loath to bring my stenographer into it."

"You put that ahead of your duty as a citizen?"

"It looks that way."

First Flower Market May 12

At a meeting of The Ulster Garden Club held Tuesday of this week, it was decided to have the first Flower Market of 1927 in May.

In former years the club has held its first sale in June when seedlings were ready for transplanting, but this year's May Market will offer for sale many choice perennials which with careful planting will bloom this season.

The full list of these lovely varieties is not yet complete but will be ready for publication within a few days.

Plan to come so your favorites will not all be sold out before you arrive.

The sale will be held on the Academy Green as usual and will begin at 10 o'clock.

Drops Dead at Banquet Table

Milwaukee, Wis., April 28 (AP).—Otto Borchert, picturesque owner and president of the Milwaukee ball club, dropped dead last night while talking to 700 baseball fans who were attending a banquet in honor of him and his team. Borchert's last inning in the game of life ended in the banquet hall at the Elks' Club.

A microphone stood before Mr. Borchert carrying his words out into space. He was telling an anecdote from his earlier life when his voice broke off in the middle of a sentence. He fell back in his chair and slumped forward on the table, his head pillowed in his arms.

Pat H Bowler, toastmaster, at Borchert's left, and Dick Mead, president of the Toledo ball club, at his right, carried the stricken baseball man to an ante room where physicians made a vain effort to revive him. An apoplectic stroke was the cause of death. He was 52 years old.

Motorists know the unquestioned superiority of paraffine base motor oil . . . You'll be sure of having the very highest quality by getting
ATLANTIC
MOTOR OIL
ATLANTIC Paraffine Base Motor Oil is of the highest quality. It is the product of a vast organization which has been in the forefront of motor oil development from the infant days of the automobile.
It is so scientifically refined that the most terrific heat of the motor, the heaviest bearing pressure or the most severe motor operating conditions cannot change the character of this oil. Were it not for road dirt, gasoline dilution and other uncontrollable contamination, this oil would "wear" indefinitely. Try it!
Evaporation tests have proved this oil's remarkable stamina
Evaporation due to motor heat, dilution due to gasoline seeping into the crankcase, contamination due to road dirt—these are the great enemies of motor oil. Dilution and contamination are hard to fight—but evaporation has been reduced to the minimum. Study these remarkable tests:
At 480° (Fahrenheit) nine representative "medium" motor oils, under test, showed an evaporation loss of 19% or greater
At 480° (Fahrenheit) the new Atlantic Motor Oil (medium), under identically the same test, showed an evaporation loss of only 3%

Atlantic Paraffine Base Motor Oil—in the correct grade for your car—is obtainable wherever you see the red, white and blue sign.

MARK TWAIN'S DAUGHTER IN PLAY AT HIGH SCHOOL

Mark Twain's "Joan of Arc," interpreted by his daughter, Clara Clemens, which will be given at the high school auditorium Friday evening under the patronage of the Athletic Association of the high school, represents one of the most unique and thrilling features of modern American drama. The same passionate interest that inspired Twain to write his interpretive study of Joan of Arc has caused his daughter to assemble the book into a moving and inspiring drama. Miss Clemens brings to her playing of the role a beautiful and rare quality of spirituality coupled with a fine humanity. It was this interpretation which made Twain's character of Joan of Arc one of the most impressive and pathetic figures in history. Mark Twain brought Joan back from the shadowy, unreal, and dimly remembered pages of legend and made her a living girl. From the magic of Twain's writing there emerged a girl who could deal capably with the swashbuckling General La Hire, who lead the armies of France with all the skill and daring of an accomplished military tactician, and who finally rose with exaltation to meet death by fire.

"Do It Today"

No one ever did anything tomorrow. Every good bit of work has been done today. It always has been and will be so. The sooner you start and make the most of today the better for everybody, and especially for yourself.—Orit.

The Bride's Wedding Ring
AT ONE time was a plain circlet of gold. Many plain circlets of gold are still used, but a carved wedding ring in gold or platinum is now very popular and many of the designs are beautifully symbolical of the nuptial ceremony. They mean something and constantly express a thought fondly cherished by the bride.
A wedding ring should assert just exactly what it is stamped. Our rings are all stamped 14 and 18-kt., and they assay right up to the mark.
You will be interested in seeing the many beautiful wedding ring designs which we have just received from some of the master craftsmen of our industry
